

Home Inspector Business Startup Guide

LLC · Banking · PA Licensing · Milton, Pennsylvania

You have a skill. You are good at something that people will pay for. That is the hardest part — and you already have it. Everything in this guide is the business wrapper that goes around that skill. None of it is complicated. All of it is learnable. Follow the steps in order. Minimum startup cost: $125 state filing + ~$800–$2,000 annual insurance.

BEFORE YOU START — Your Computer & File System

Start fresh. Or clean up what you have.

A new business deserves a clean workspace. If you have a reliable computer, great — uninstall what you don't use, clear your downloads folder, back everything up. If you're buying new, now is the right moment. Budget option: Chromebook ($200–$350) handles email, Google Docs, and every web-based tool in this guide. Better option: Windows or Mac laptop ($600–$1,000) gives you more flexibility as you grow. Tax deduction: A computer purchased primarily for business is deductible. Keep your receipt. If you use it for personal and business both, deduct the business-use percentage. Ask your CPA. These startup costs — computer, LLC filing fee, professional training — are all deductible as business formation expenses in Year 1.

Your Folder Structure — Build This First

Create one master folder on your computer or in Google Drive. Everything related to your business lives inside it. Recommended structure for a solo home inspector:

■ ■ YOUR LLC NAME	Your master business folder
■ ■ ■ BUSINESS	Legal and financial records
■ ■ ■ LLC DOCS	Certificate of Org, Docketing Stmt, Operating Agreement, EIN
■ ■ ■ BANKING	Bank statements, deposit records, account info
■ ■ ■ INSURANCE	E&O and GL policies, certificates of insurance
■ ■ ■ TAXES	Quarterly payments, annual returns, all receipts
■ ■ ■ LICENSES	Association membership, radon cert, any permits
■ ■ ■ CLIENTS	One subfolder per client
■ ■ ■ [CLIENT NAME]	Contract, inspection report, photos, invoice, payment confirmation

■■ ■■ REPORTS	Blank templates, sample reports
■■ ■■ MARKETING	Logo, business card files, photos, testimonials
■■ ■■ EQUIPMENT	Purchase receipts, warranties, maintenance logs

File Naming — Two Proven Systems

System	Format	Best For	Example
Date-First	YYYYMMDD — CATEGORY — Description	Reports, receipts, invoices, bank statements, anything you see daily	20260324-AnyDoc-SeeDaily2026
Category-First	ENTITY — TYPE — SUBTYPE — Description	Legal and permanent docs you search by type, not date	SMTypeSubTypeBUSINESS — LLC DOC — Certificate of ■■ Use Category-First for legal docs. Date-First for everything else.

Your LLC certificate and operating agreement don't change — name them by category. Inspection reports and invoices pile up — date them. Use ALL CAPS for category codes. Never use slashes in filenames. Keep names under 60 characters.

PHASE 0 — Choose Your Business Structure

Before you file anything, make one decision: how will you legally operate? For a licensed home inspector in Pennsylvania, the answer is almost always the same — but here is what you need to know so you can make it with confidence.

	Sole Proprietorship	Single-Member LLC ✓	S-Corp Election
Cost to start	$0	$125 to PA	Requires LLC first + IRS Form 2553
Liability protection	None — you are the business	Yes — personal assets protected	Yes
How taxes work	Schedule C	Schedule C (same)	Salary + distributions
PA income tax	3.07% flat	3.07% flat	3.07% on salary
Self-employment tax	15.3% on all profit	15.3% on all profit	Only on salary — potential savings
When it makes sense	Testing an idea, very low risk	✓ Best for most solo service pros	Net profit consistently above ~$60K/yr
Recommended?	Not for a licensed inspector	✓ Yes — start here	Ask a CPA when you're profitable

Register in Pennsylvania. Not Delaware. Not Wyoming.

You'll hear advice to register in Delaware or Wyoming for tax advantages. For a Pennsylvania home inspector, this is the wrong move. Your business operates here — you inspect homes here, your clients are here, your income is earned here. Pennsylvania taxes that income regardless of where your LLC is registered. Worse, you'd have to register as a 'foreign LLC' in Pennsylvania anyway — paying fees in both states, maintaining two registered agents, and doubling your paperwork. Delaware and Wyoming make sense for online businesses with no physical presence, or for companies seeking venture capital. A local service business registers where it works. That's Pennsylvania.

PHASE 1 — Form Your LLC with Pennsylvania

1

Choose Your Business Name & File Your Certificate of Organization

$125 required

REQUIRED

Pick your name, check nobody else has it, and file immediately in the same sitting. Pennsylvania doesn't hold your name until you file. Something like 'Smith Home Inspections LLC' is professional and clear. You file two documents at once. The Certificate of Organization (DSCB:15-8821) legally creates your LLC. The Docketing Statement (DSCB:15-134A) is a short cover sheet Pennsylvania requires alongside every filing. At file.dos.pa.gov the system walks you through both in one flow. Pay the $125, submit, and expect approval in 5–7 business days. When your stamped Certificate arrives, download it, print it, and file it under BUSINESS — LLC DOCS. That document is the birth certificate of your business.

- Check name availability (free): apps.dos.pa.gov/CorpSearch
- Name must end in LLC or L.L.C. — e.g., Smith Home Inspections LLC
- File at: file.dos.pa.gov — create a free Keystone Login account first
- Form DSCB:15-8821 (Certificate of Organization) + Form DSCB:15-134A (Docketing Statement) — both filed together in one portal flow
- You'll need: LLC name, home address, and today's date as effective date
- Pay $125 by credit card through the portal
- Approval: 5–7 business days — download and print your stamped Certificate

Save this document as:

YOUR LLC — BUSINESS — LLC DOC — DSCB-15-8821 Certificate of Organization.pdf

YOUR LLC — BUSINESS — LLC DOC — DSCB-15-134A Docketing Statement.pdf

Mail option: Download forms at pa.gov, send to PA Bureau of Corporations PO Box 8722 Harrisburg PA 17105-8722. Allow extra time. Same-day in-person: $100 extra by 10 a.m.

2

Your Registered Office — Already Done in Step 1

$0 (home address)

REQUIRED

The address you entered on the Certificate of Organization is your Registered Office. Nothing else to file. Pennsylvania needs a physical PA address where official legal documents can be delivered during business hours. Your home address is free and works perfectly for a solo Milton-based inspector. Who uses a CROP (Commercial Registered Office Provider)? Typically: businesses registered in one state but operating in another; owners who travel frequently; people who don't want their home address in a public database; online businesses with no fixed location. For a local service business operating where you live, your home address is the right call. Save the $49–$150/year for something that grows revenue.

- The address from Step 1 is your Registered Office — nothing else to file
- Your address appears in PA's public business database — normal and fine

Optional additions:

- Hire a CROP (~$49–$150/yr) if you want privacy or travel frequently

3

Write Your Operating AgreementFREE*REQUIRED

An operating agreement says: this is my company, I own it, I run it, profits come to me. Pennsylvania doesn't legally require it, but your bank will want to see it and it's your proof that the LLC is real and separate from you personally. A sample single-member operating agreement is included at the back of this guide as Appendix A. Fill in the bracketed fields, sign and date it, save it. You do not need a lawyer for a standard single-member LLC. Disclaimer: Appendix A is provided for informational reference only and does not constitute legal advice. Consult a licensed Pennsylvania attorney if you have questions specific to your situation.

- Use Appendix A or search: 'Pennsylvania single-member LLC operating agreement free template'
- Fill in your name, LLC name, address, and formation date
- Sign and date it — the signature matters even if it's just you
- Keep a digital copy and a printed copy — your bank will ask for it

Save this document as:YOUR LLC — BUSINESS — LLC DOC — Operating Agreement.pdf

REQUIRED

An EIN is your business's Social Security number. You need it to open your bank account, file taxes, and put on every invoice you issue. The IRS gives these out free and instantly online. About 10 minutes. Your EIN appears on screen at the end — screenshot it immediately. The IRS portal only shows it once. If you close the tab before saving it, you'll need to call 1-800-829-4933 to retrieve it.

- Wait until your LLC Certificate is approved before doing this
- Go to IRS.gov → search "Apply for an EIN Online"
- Select: Limited Liability Company → Sole Member
- Print or screenshot your EIN before closing the page — it shows only once

Save this document as:

YOUR LLC — BUSINESS — LLC DOC — EIN Confirmation Letter.pdf

Lost your EIN? Call the IRS Business & Specialty Tax Line: 1-800-829-4933

REQUIRED

Here's a step most guides skip. Pennsylvania has its own tax portal called myPATH — my Pennsylvania Tax Hub — and you need to register your business there. This is how the state knows you exist as a business taxpayer. You'll use it four times a year to file and pay your quarterly Pennsylvania income tax. Free to set up, about 15 minutes, and you'll need your EIN from Step 4.

- Go to: mypath.pa.gov — Pennsylvania Department of Revenue's portal
- Click 'Pennsylvania Online Business Tax Registration' — no login needed for first-time setup
- You'll need: LLC name, EIN, business address, and NAICS code
- NAICS code for home inspection: 541350 (Building Inspection Services)
- You do not need to register for Sales Tax — home inspection is a service, not a taxable sale in PA
- You do not need Unemployment Comp or Workers' Comp — those only apply if you hire employees
- Registration is free. You'll log back in every quarter to pay PA income tax.

Save your myPATH login. PA personal income tax on business profit is a flat 3.07%.

■ Quarterly Estimated Tax Reference Card

Quarter	Period Covered	Due Date	What You Owe
Q1	Jan 1 – Mar 31	April 15	Federal (IRS) + PA (myPATH)
Q2	Apr 1 – May 31	June 15	Federal (IRS) + PA (myPATH)
Q3	Jun 1 – Aug 31	September 15	Federal (IRS) + PA (myPATH)
Q4	Sep 1 – Dec 31	January 15	Federal (IRS) + PA (myPATH)

Rule of thumb: set aside 25–30% of every client payment into your business savings account the day you receive it. That is your tax reserve. Federal self-employment tax is 15.3%. PA personal income tax is 3.07%. Together you're looking at roughly 28–32% on net profit. Pay every quarter. Missing payments triggers IRS underpayment penalties.

✓ End of Phase 1 checklist: Certificate of Organization (saved & printed) · EIN letter (saved) · Operating Agreement (signed) · myPATH account created. These four things are your foundation.

PHASE 2 — Open Your Business Account at Service 1st FCU

6 Gather Your Documents Before You Walk In

570-522-9710

REQUIRED

You already have a relationship with Service 1st, which makes this easier than walking in cold. Call the Milton branch first at 570-522-9710 (ask for Misty Leonard, Assistant VP) to confirm exactly what they need. Opening a business account is a formal process — you're showing up as the manager of a legal entity, not just as a personal customer. Bring everything in one trip.

- Certificate of Organization — approved LLC document from Step 1
- EIN letter from the IRS (printed copy)
- Operating Agreement — signed copy from Step 3
- Driver's license or government-issued photo ID
- Authorized Resolution — a short letter stating you authorize yourself as sole manager to open accounts on behalf of the LLC. Service 1st may have their own form.
- Opening deposit — ask the branch what minimum is required

REQUIRED

This is the single most important financial rule: keep your money completely separate. Every client payment goes into the business account. Every business expense comes out of it. Your personal account never touches business money. This preserves your LLC's legal protection. If you mix personal and business money and get sued, a court can decide your LLC was never really separate from you — and you lose the liability shield you paid $125 to create. Open both a checking account (daily transactions) and a savings account (tax reserve). Every time a client pays you, immediately move 25–30% to savings. Don't touch it.

- Open a Business Checking Account for all income and expenses
- Open a Business Savings Account — 25–30% of every payment goes here for taxes
- Get a Visa Business Debit Card for business purchases
- Never use your personal account for business transactions

Credit unions like Service 1st typically charge lower monthly fees than banks. Ask about transaction limits and minimum balance requirements.

✓ End of Phase 2: Business checking open · Business savings open · Debit card in hand · Personal and business money separated from day one.

PHASE 3 — Pennsylvania Home Inspector Requirements

Pennsylvania does not issue a state home inspector license — but inspectors ARE governed by law (PA Title 68, Chapter 75). Two things are legally required before you take your first paid job.

8

Join a Qualifying National Home Inspection Association

~$200–$500 + dues

REQUIRED

Pennsylvania law requires you to be a full member in good standing of a recognized national home inspection association before you can practice. The two main ones are InterNACHI and ASHI. InterNACHI is the faster, more affordable path: free online training and their own exam for members. Full membership requires completing a course, passing an exam, and logging 100 field inspections — real inspections you rode along on or assisted with. Plan this over months, not days.

- Choose: InterNACHI (internachi.org) or ASHI (homeinspector.org)
- Complete an accredited home inspection course and pass the exam
- National Home Inspector Exam (NHIE): ~$225 per attempt
- Complete 100 field inspections (ride-alongs or assisted inspections count)
- Maintain continuing education annually as a condition of membership

InterNACHI's own exam is free for members. NHIE (~$225) is the nationally recognized alternative. Both satisfy PA's requirement.

9

Get Your E&O; and General Liability Insurance

~$800–$2,000/yr

REQUIRED

Pennsylvania law requires it. Errors & Omissions (E&O;) covers you if a client claims you missed something. General Liability (GL) covers physical accidents during an inspection. Together they're your safety net. Your association will have insurance programs built for home inspectors — start there.

- E&O; Insurance — client claims you missed a defect
- General Liability (GL) — physical accidents during inspections
- PA minimum: $100,000 per occurrence / $500,000 aggregate, deductible ≤ $2,500
- Both InterNACHI and ASHI offer inspector-specific insurance programs
- Get a certificate of insurance — real estate agents will ask for it
- This is a deductible business expense — keep every renewal invoice

Save this document as:

YOUR LLC — BUSINESS — INSURANCE — EO GL Certificate [YEAR].pdf

Don't let cost push you to minimum-only coverage. One unhappy client with an attorney can exceed minimums quickly.

10 Radon Certification (PA DEP)

~$150–$300 exam

OPTIONAL

Central Pennsylvania is one of the highest-radon regions in the country. Clients will ask. Real estate agents will refer you more readily if you offer it. It adds $100–$200 per inspection. PA DEP requires separate certification before you can legally perform radon testing. InterNACHI offers a free NRPP-approved online course.

- PA DEP requires separate certification before offering radon testing
- Take an NRPP- or NRSB-approved course and pass the exam
- InterNACHI's free online radon course is NRPP-approved — start there
- PA DEP: dep.pa.gov — search: radon certification
- Adds $100–$200 per inspection — pays for itself quickly

✓ PA does NOT issue a state inspector license — but you MUST have your association membership AND insurance active before your first paid job.

PHASE 4 — Your Online Presence

11 Set Up Your Business Email Address

Free–$6/mo

REQUIRED

Your email address is the first thing clients and real estate agents judge you by. A Gmail address works. A custom domain email looks more professional and costs very little. Here are your options, honest tradeoffs included.

- Option A — Free Gmail: create smithhomeinspectionsllc@gmail.com — free, works immediately, fine when you're starting out
- Option B — Google Workspace: get john@smithinspections.com — $6/month, looks professional, same Gmail interface you already know. Buy your domain at domains.google.com first (~$12/yr)
- Option C — Microsoft 365 Business: $6/month, includes Outlook, Word, Excel — good if you prefer Microsoft tools
- Whichever you choose: use it exclusively for business. Never mix personal and business email.
- Set up an email signature with: your name, LLC name, phone, certification, and website (once you have one)

Custom domain email is a deductible business expense. $6/month = $72/year.

REQUIRED

When a homeowner or real estate agent searches 'home inspector Milton PA' on Google, you want to show up. A Google Business Profile is free and is the single most effective thing a local service business can do for visibility. It takes about 20 minutes to set up and Google will mail you a verification postcard.

- Go to: business.google.com and click 'Manage now'
- Enter your business name (your LLC name), category ('Home Inspector'), and service area (the cities/counties you cover)
- Do not list your home address as your business address — choose 'I deliver goods and services to customers' and enter your service area
- Google will mail a postcard to verify your location — arrives in 5–14 days. Enter the code to go live.
- Add your phone number, website (if you have one), hours, and a description
- Upload photos — even a professional headshot and your inspection equipment
- Ask every satisfied client to leave a Google review — reviews are the single biggest driver of local referrals

A complete Google Business Profile with photos and reviews will outperform a bare listing every time. Spend 30 minutes on it.

PHASE 5 — Keeping Your Business in Good Standing

REQUIRED

Pennsylvania changed the rules in 2025 — LLCs now file a simple annual report by September 30th every year. Log into file.dos.pa.gov, confirm your LLC name, address, and your name as manager, pay $7. Five minutes. But miss it for six months and the state can dissolve your LLC administratively. Set the reminder right now.

- File at: file.dos.pa.gov by September 30 each year
- Confirm LLC name, address, and manager name — that's all it asks
- Cost: $7 per year
- Set a recurring calendar reminder for September 1st every year

Add this to your calendar right now. Click the link below to create a pre-filled reminder: google.com/calendar → create event → Title: 'FILE PA ANNUAL LLC REPORT' → Date: September 1 → Repeat: Every year → Note: file.dos.pa.gov, $7 fee, due Sept 30 — confirm LLC name, address, manager name

Pay Your Quarterly Estimated Taxes

Save 25–30%

REQUIRED

When you work for yourself, nobody withholds taxes. Clients pay your LLC and it's on you to set aside what you owe and send it in four times a year. This catches new business owners off guard every April. The fix: every time money comes in, move 25–30% to your business savings immediately. Consider a local CPA after year one — they'll save you more than they cost.

- Federal due: Apr 15, Jun 15, Sep 15, Jan 15 — pay at IRS.gov
- Pennsylvania: 3.07% flat rate — pay quarterly at mypath.pa.gov
- Set aside 25–30% of every payment in your business savings account
- File LLC income on Schedule C with your personal federal return (Form 1040)
- Consider a local CPA after year one — worth every dollar

15

Renew Your Association Membership & Insurance Annually

~$1,000–$2,500/yr

REQUIRED

Your legal right to call yourself a Pennsylvania home inspector rests on two things staying current: your association membership and your insurance. Let either lapse and you're outside the law. Put both renewal dates in your calendar the day you sign up.

- Keep your InterNACHI or ASHI membership current — your legal standing to practice in PA
- Renew your E&O; and GL insurance before expiration
- Complete any continuing education required by your association
- Set renewal calendar reminders today — 11 months from your membership and insurance start dates

Add to calendar: [MEMBERSHIP RENEWAL REMINDER] — 11 months from start date. Description: Renew InterNACHI/ASHI membership + E&O;/GL insurance. Login: internachi.org or homeinspector.org. Required to legally operate in PA.

Glossary

ASHI

American Society of Home Inspectors. One of the two nationally recognized associations whose full membership satisfies Pennsylvania's home inspector requirement. Older and carries prestige with some real estate agents.

CROP

Commercial Registered Office Provider. A paid service that receives official state mail on behalf of your LLC. Used when you don't want your home address in the public database, operate across multiple states, or travel frequently.

DSCB

Department of State Corporation Bureau. The prefix on Pennsylvania business filing form numbers. DSCB:15-8821 is the Certificate of Organization; DSCB:15-134A is the Docketing Statement.

EIN

Employer Identification Number. Your business's federal tax ID, issued free by the IRS. Required to open a business bank account and file business taxes. Also called an FEIN (Federal EIN) or TIN (Tax Identification Number).

E&O;

Errors & Omissions Insurance. Professional liability coverage that protects you if a client claims you missed a defect during an inspection. Required by PA law.

GL

General Liability Insurance. Covers physical accidents that occur during your work — property damage, bodily injury. Required by PA law alongside E&O.;

InterNACHI

International Association of Certified Home Inspectors. The largest home inspector association globally. Offers free online training and exam for members. Full membership satisfies Pennsylvania's legal requirement.

LLC

Limited Liability Company. A business structure that legally separates your personal assets from your business liabilities. If your business is sued, your home, car, and personal savings are protected — as long as you keep business and personal finances completely separate.

myPATH

My Pennsylvania Tax Hub. The Pennsylvania Department of Revenue's online portal at mypath.pa.gov. Where you register your business for state taxes and file quarterly PA income tax payments.

NAICS

North American Industry Classification System. A standardized code that classifies your business type for tax and statistical purposes. Home inspection services = NAICS 541350.

NHIE

National Home Inspector Examination. The nationally accredited exam for home inspectors, administered by a third-party testing organization. Costs ~$225 per attempt. Satisfies both InterNACHI and Pennsylvania's requirements.

NRPP

National Radon Proficiency Program. The national certification body for radon measurement and mitigation. PA DEP requires NRPP- or NRSB-approved training before you can legally perform radon testing in Pennsylvania.

Schedule C

IRS Form 1040 Schedule C: Profit or Loss from Business. The tax form where sole proprietors and single-member LLC owners report business income and expenses. Your LLC income flows through to your personal tax return via Schedule C.

Single-Member LLC

An LLC with exactly one owner (member). Taxed identically to a sole proprietorship by default — income reported on Schedule C — but with full liability protection. The recommended structure for a solo home inspector.

Baruch atah Adonai, Eloheinu Melech ha-olam, shehechyanu, v'kiy'manu, v'higiyanu la-z'man ha-zeh.

“Blessed are You, LORD our God, Sovereign of the universe, who has kept us alive, sustained us, and enabled us to reach this season.”

The Shehechyanu is one of the oldest blessings in the Jewish tradition — recited at the beginning of something new. A first holiday. A first fruit of the season. The wearing of a new garment. The start of something that matters.

Jesus of Nazareth — Yeshua, an observant first-century Jew from the Galilee — would have recited this blessing. Over a new season. Over a new beginning. Over the first day of something he was about to build with his hands.

You have reached this season. You did the paperwork. You made the decision. You chose to bet on yourself. That is not a small thing.

Now go do the work you are good at. The business will follow.
